

Consultation with WFEO Members and Partners on Draft International Standard ISO 37000 – Guidance for the Governance of Organisations

The International Standard Organisation (ISO) is a leading international standards organisation that develops standards for a wide range of topics and uses.

The World Federation of Engineering Organisations (WFEO) is a Category A Liaison member of the ISO Technical Committee 309 (TC 309) which is developing global standards on Anti Bribery, Governance and Compliance.

ISO 37000 – Guidance for the Governance of Organisations is a foundation standard and is the basis for other international standards in the areas of risk management (ISO 31000), compliance (Draft ISO 37002), and anti-bribery (ISO 37001).

The Draft International Standard ISO 37000 is now available for consultation.

This foundation standard provides essential guidance for all types of organisations, large and small, including professional engineering institutions.

WFEO members are invited to provide their feedback on this important standard. It is essential that members provide their views from every region of the world. This is the key reason for WFEO being an approved liaison member of this important ISO Committee.
